KEY RISKS AND RISK MANAGEMENT

You should not invest in this Fund if you do not understand or are not comfortable with the accompanying risks.

INTEREST RATE RISK	The possibility to experience losses due to changes in interest rates.
MARKET / PRICE RISK	The possibility to experience losses due to changes in market prices of securities (e.g. bonds)
LIQUIDITY RISK	The possibility to experience losses due to the inability to sell or convert assets into cash immediately or in instance where conversion to cash is possible but at a loss.
CREDIT / DEFAULT RISK	The possibility to experience losses due to borrower's failure to pay its obligation or when a counter party fails to deliver on the agreed trade.
REINVESTMENT RISK	The possibility of having lower returns or earnings when maturing funds or interest earnings of funds are reinvested.

The Fund employs a risk management policy based on duration. Duration measures the sensitivity of NAVPu to interest rate movements. As interest rate rise, bond prices fall. The higher the duration, the more NAVPu will fluctuate in relation to changes in interest rates.

 - Such other marketable and/or liquid investment outlets/categories and/or any acceptable security/outlet as the Trust Committee and the BSP may allow for open-ended marked-to-market pooled trust funds.
- Change in Benchmark – Effective July 1, 2024, the benchmark is Bloomberg Philippine Sovereign Bond Index 1 to 5 Year (BPHIL15). BPHIL15 is a rules-based market value-weighted index engineered to measure the fixed rate local currency securities publicly issued by the Philippines

OUTLOOK AND STRATEGY

Market Outlook: On monetary policy update, the BSP's Monetary Board decided to keep the BSP's Target Reverse Repurchase Rate (RRP) at 5.75%. According to the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP), the latest inflation forecasts are not materially different from the previous forecasts in December 2024. For the year 2025, the risk-adjusted inflation forecast rose to 3.5% from 3.4% in the previous meeting. The risk-adjusted forecast for 2026 is unchanged at 3.7%. The risk to the inflation outlook have become broadly balanced for 2025 and 2026. Upside pressures are seen to come from the utilities sector. The impact of lower tariffs on rice remains the main downside risk to inflation. The BSP anticipates continuing its measured shift to less restrictive monetary policy settings, even as previous policy adjustments further work their way through the economy.

Additionally, according to the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA), the Philippines' headline inflation eased to 2.1% in February 2025, down from 2.9% last January 2025. The latest inflation also come in below the median market estimate of 2.6%. The downtrend was primarily driven by the slower annual increment of food and non-alcoholic beverages, also contributing to the downtrend was housing, water, electricity, gas and other fuels, as well as reduced transport prices.

At the end of March 2025, yields at the short end of the curve and at the belly of the curve started to trend lower, while at the long end of the curve yields were trending higher, indicating that the yield curve is now starting to normalize. This signifies that the PBB Peso Bond Fund is well positioned with its investment. This happened due to latest inflation print was a bit lower than the median market estimate of 2.6%. Moving forward, we believe yields for all tenors will remain within the range as we expect that the BSP will keep its RRP rate unchanged due to the increase uncertainty over global economic policies and its impact on the Philippine economy.

Strategy: The Fund maintained its modified duration (compared last December 2024) through investments in government securities with maturities of up to 5 years. In response to the underperformance of PBB Peso Bond Fund to its benchmark, we are changing our strategy by allocating small portion of the fund to corporate bonds (with high coupon rate) in order to increase the yield of the Fund. Furthermore, the Fund will still invest into tenors of at least three (3) years with high coupon rate to boost its returns, which will be reinvested to a new asset. The Fund is also well positioned to capitalized on its upside risk potential albeit market drivers that could influence interest rate direction in the medium term. PBB Peso Bond Fund is strategically placed to take advantage of this arising opportunities while carefully managing potential risks amid changing market conditions.
